[1] From New Director of IISEE

I, Dr. Toshiaki Yokoi, am the successor of Dr. Shoichi Ando who was transferred to GRIPS after two years and eight months as the director of IISEE. Now he is a professor of GRIPS. I came to IISEE in 1996 and have worked mainly for Seismology Course, as a lecturer and the course leader. I share nice memories also with Earthquake Engineering course, Tsunami Course and Global Seismological Observation Course participants.

It is great pleasure for me working for IISEE and the ex-participants in a way different from I have taken.

Please feel free to contact to IISEE and the staff including me, anytime via e-mail and also visit to Tsukuba city when you have a chance to drop in Japan.

Toshiaki YOKOI
Director, IISEE,
